

Background Check Information

All volunteers are subject to a background check as a means to verify the accuracy of information provided by the volunteer and to promote the safety and security of care receivers.

The Center for Volunteer Caregiving uses First Advantage to process background checks. Privacy issues are key in the employment screening industry as regulatory bodies issue rulings and legislation designed to protect consumers' rights. Be advised that First Advantage and all employment-screening companies must adhere to these regulations, including the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), the EEOC, and the Drivers Privacy Protection Act, among others.
